Why Would Christians Oppose Same-Sex Marriage?

Friday, June 24, 2005

In my commentary published today, I take a close look at Sunday’s edition of The New York Times Magazine. The cover story by Russell Shorto, What's the Movement to Outlaw Gay Marriage Really About?, deserves your attention as well. The article provides an invaluable perspective into why the secular elites find evangelical Christians to be so unusual — holding to a faith that lays claim upon every dimension of life.